

IT DOESN'T HAVE TO BE EASY

As we finished lunch a couple of weeks ago, I asked Ed (as I'll call him here) if he had any preferences on where he might be placed as an ICM Chaplain. "Place me anywhere—and it doesn't have to be easy," he said. Ed is about to retire from 30 years of sales experience in corporate America. "I started life on 3rd base," he told me. "Many struggle just to get to 1st base, but I had loving parents, and grew up in a supportive Christian family. I want to give back—to help those who started with a lot less than I did."

I love how Ed said "and it doesn't have to be easy." For many in Ed's shoes—nearly retired, financially secure, good health, etc—taking it easy is the assumed goal. Sure, Ed will enjoy many good and relaxing things in retirement—but he knows there's more. ICM has always helped with the more—more for workers, who benefit from the ministry of our chaplains, and more for our chaplains, who, whether retired or not, know that they've been richly blessed and that it is a joy to give back. Sometimes the "not easy" thing turns out to be the good and necessary thing—for others and for us.

As the Lord gives us each strength and vitality, may we aim to one day say, along with the Apostle Paul, that we "...have fought the good fight...finished the race... [and] kept the faith." (2 Tim. 4:7)

IT DOESN'T HAVE TO BE EASY

As we finished lunch a couple of weeks ago, I asked Ed (as I'll call him here) if he had any preferences on where he might be placed as an ICM Chaplain. "Place me anywhere—and it doesn't have to be easy," he said. Ed is about to retire from 30 years of sales experience in corporate America. "I started life on 3rd base," he told me. "Many struggle just to get to 1st base, but I had loving parents, and grew up in a supportive Christian family. I want to give back—to help those who started with a lot less than I did."

I love how Ed said "and it doesn't have to be easy." For many in Ed's shoes—nearly retired, financially secure, good health, etc—taking it easy is the assumed goal. Sure, Ed will enjoy many good and relaxing things in retirement—but he knows there's more. ICM has always helped with the more—more for workers, who benefit from the ministry of our chaplains, and more for our chaplains, who, whether retired or not, know that they've been richly blessed and that it is a joy to give back. Sometimes the "not easy" thing turns out to be the good and necessary thing—for others and for us.

As the Lord gives us each strength and vitality, may we aim to one day say, along with the Apostle Paul, that we "...have fought the good fight...finished the race... [and] kept the faith." (2 Tim. 4:7)

ICM LABOR DAY OFFERING

The conviction—that it doesn't have to be easy—has compelled ICM chaplains since our founding in 1972. Our goal has always been to meet employees where they work—however difficult those conditions might be—bringing a caring presence, and nurturing faith and hope.

Please consider giving to ICM during our Annual Labor Day Offering. Your gifts, given from now until October 2nd will help support our efforts to recruit, train, and place chaplains like Ed—those ready for a new and rewarding challenge!

We have already been promised a matching gift that will double the first $3,000 we receive.

You may use this QR code to donate to ICM.
Checks may be mailed to the address below.
Or visit icmchaplains.org · info@icmchaplains.org

Rev. Eric S. Coddington

Executive Director | ICM
57 S Main St. Suite 606, Harrisonburg, VA 22801
O: (540) 432-1919 · C: (540) 820-1919

ICM LABOR DAY OFFERING

The conviction—that it doesn't have to be easy—has compelled ICM chaplains since our founding in 1972. Our goal has always been to meet employees where they work—however difficult those conditions might be—bringing a caring presence, and nurturing faith and hope.

Please consider giving to ICM during our Annual Labor Day Offering. Your gifts, given from now until October 2nd will help support our efforts to recruit, train, and place chaplains like Ed—those ready for a new and rewarding challenge!

We have already been promised a matching gift that will double the first $3,000 we receive.

You may use this QR code to donate to ICM.
Checks may be mailed to the address below.
Or visit icmchaplains.org · info@icmchaplains.org

Rev. Eric S. Coddington

Executive Director | ICM
57 S Main St. Suite 606, Harrisonburg, VA 22801
O: (540) 432-1919 · C: (540) 820-1919